Birth Date: 17th August 2003 (19 years old)

Nationality: British Asian

I am a University of Manchester student who is looking for part time work outside of learning hours. This should mean that I would be available most evenings and weekends when university term starts (I may also be able to work whenever i do not have in-person lectures).

As an employee, I hope to prove that I am very hardworking and have the ability to learn quickly on the job. Generally, I'm committed to anything I put my mind to so I would be fine with working long hours and under pressure. I am also a very effective communicator and can work very well in a team, fulfilling leadership and follower roles successfully throughout my life.
